How to connect google earbuds

Android Smartphone: Download Pixel Buds App from Google Play.iOS Smartphone: Place Pixel Buds Case near your iPhone, hold the pairing button, open Settings, tap Bluetooth, and tap on the Pixel Buds.Laptop Method: Open Bluetooth Connections while pressing the pairing button on the Google Pixel Buds case. This article explains how to pair your Google Pixel Buds to a smartphone, laptop, and how to pair replacement Google Pixel Buds. Pairing your Pixel Buds on an Android or iPhone is a fairly straightforward process. Download the Pixel Buds app. Make sure that your phone is unlocked with Bluetooth turned on. Tap the Pixel Buds app. The app will instruct you to press and hold the pairing button until the indicator light flashes. The phone will detect the Google Pixel Buds and you'll see a headphone symbol at the top of your screen. Pairing the Pixel Buds to an iPhone is a fairly straightforward process. Open the Pixel Buds case with the Pixel Buds inside of the case fully charged. Sit the case next to your iPhone. Hold the button on the Pixel Buds case until the pairing LED starts to blink. This indicates that the pairing process has started. Now on the iPhone open up the Settings menu. Tap on Bluetooth. The Pixel Buds will be showing in the nearby devices. Tap on the Pixel Buds and the pairing process will be complete. Here is how you'll pair your Pixel Buds to a laptop or a desktop computer. Click the Bluetooth icon, located in the bottom left corner of the taskbar (on macOS it will usually be in the top right). Click turn on Bluetooth and search for nearby devices. Press and hold the pairing button on the Google Pixel Buds. The Google Pixel Buds should appear on nearby devices. Click "Pair" and your Pixel Buds will be connected to the computer. If the Pixel Buds aren't connecting here's how to try to get them working again. The first thing that you should do is to delete the Pixel Buds from the Bluetooth menu. Click Forget Device on the Pixel Buds which are saved in the Bluetooth device list. Then pair the Pixel Buds from the earlier steps in this article. You will need to forget the Pixel Buds from the saved Bluetooth devices list, on your smartphone because the saved pair of Pixel Buds will interfere with the pairing of your new set. Once you have forgotten the "lost" pair of Pixel Buds from the Bluetooth menu you'll need to repeat the pairing process listed above. Laptop users will also need to go into the saved Bluetooth devices and remove the previous pair of Pixel Buds. FAQ How long does it take to connect Pixel Buds? Without any issues, the process only takes a minute or so. Regardless of where you're connecting your Pixel Buds, pairing a Bluetooth device only involves a few steps at maximum and is usually done quickly. Can Pixel Buds connect to multiple devices? Pixel Buds can be paired to up to a total of 8 different devices. However, Pixel Buds don't support Multipoint which is the simultaneous connection to multiple devices. Though, switching between devices with Pixel Buds is quick. Thanks for letting us know! Can't wait to start using your Google Pixel Buds? This quick start guide will get you set up and ready to go. Quick Start Guide Step 1: Connect Google Pixel or Android 6.0+ Open the Google Pixel Buds wireless charging case. Ensure that the earbuds and charging case are charged (white status lights both inside and outside) and keep the case next to your phone. Make sure your phone is unlocked and your Bluetooth® and Location are on. Press and hold the pairing button on the back of the wireless charging case until the light starts pulsing white. Tap the Google Pixel Buds pairing notification and follow the on-screen steps. Other devices Open the Google Pixel Buds wireless charging case. Ensure that the earbuds and charging case are charged (white status lights both inside and outside) and keep the case next to your phone. Make sure your phone is unlocked and your Bluetooth is on. Press and hold the pairing button on the back of the wireless charging case until the light starts pulsing white. Select Google Pixel Buds from the list of available Bluetooth devices. Step 2: Fit Make sure the eartip is firmly attached to the earbud and does not easily pull away. Gently insert your earbuds. Left (L) and Right (R) indicators are on the earbuds. The stabilizer arc should tuck into the ear and slightly rotate it until it fits comfortably without any pressure. Pixel Buds come pre-attached with medium eartips. If needed, try one of the different eartip sizes included. Ears are so unique that your left ear may be different from your right ear. Learn more here. Step 3: Gestures and controls Google Pixel Buds allow you to control your media, manage your calls, or use your Assistant while on the go with just a few simple gestures. Tap to answer calls, play/pause media Double tap to skip track Triple tap to go to previous track Swipe forward to increase volume Swipe backward to decrease volume Android 6.0+ only: Press and hold to speak to your Google Assistant (requires Assistant set up) Learn more gestures here. Google, Pixel Buds, Android, and related logos and marks are trademarks of Google LLC. The Bluetooth® word mark is a registered trademark owned by Bluetooth SIG, Inc. The Pixel Buds are made for Android, but you can pair them to iPhone like any other Bluetooth headphones and use them the same way.Put your Buds in pairing mode and on your phone, go to Settings > Bluetooth and select your Buds under Other Devices. This article explains how to use the Google Pixel headphones with iPhone, but these instructions will apply to other iOS devices, too. You can't use the Google-specific features, like Adaptive Sound or the voice-activated Google Assistant, but other features like touch gestures will work on iPhone. Make sure you have your Google Buds (in their case) and your iPhone at the ready, and your iPhone's Bluetooth needs to be turned on so you can pair it to your Buds. Once you have everything, pairing your Buds to your iPhone only takes a couple of seconds! Put your Buds in your case, and place the case next to your iPhone. Open the Pixel Buds case, and press and hold the pairing button located on the back of the case. Hold this button down until you see the LED on the front of the case start blinking, indicating the Buds have entered pairing mode. On your iPhone (with Bluetooth enabled) go to Settings > Bluetooth and under Other Devices tap the listing for the Pixel Buds. After a moment, your Pixel Buds will now be paired with your iPhone. The Buds will work like any other Bluetooth headphones. Much like how the Pixel Buds can be connected over Bluetooth to iPhone, other devices outside of the Android umbrella will work with the Pixel Buds in the same way: If it supports Bluetooth pairing of headphones, chances are the Pixel Buds with work it. While you won't be able to use features like the Pixel Buds' live translate feature, made possible by Google Translate, on iPhone, you can use certain touch gestures on the Buds on iPhone. The following commands work: Single tap to play, pause, or answer a call.Double-tap to skip a song or end a call.Triple-tap to go back to the previous song.Swipe forward to turn the volume up.Swipe backward to turn the volume down. FAQ How do I turn off my Pixel Buds? To turn off your Pixel Buds, put them back in their case or disconnect them from Bluetooth settings. Alternatively, triple-tap on the right earbud to turn them on or off. Where can I buy Pixel Buds 2? Pixel Buds 2 are sold at many retailers, including Google's online store. Best Buy, Staples, Verizon Stores, and electronics stores also carry the Pixel Buds 2. How do I update my Pixel Buds? After you pair your Pixel Buds with an Android device running Android 10 or later (or Android 6 with the Pixel Bud app), you enable automatic updates. When there's an available update, it transfers to your Pixel Buds the next time you use them with the Android device, then it will be installed when you put the Pixel Buds back in their case. How long does it take to charge the Pixel Buds? When fully charged, your Pixel Buds should last for 5 hours of listening time and 2.5 hours of talk time. When they're drained, place them back in their charging case; they should be fully charged again within 45 minutes to an hour. You can use them with only a partial charge, however. The Pixel Buds charging case takes 1.5 hours to fully charge, then it has enough juice to power your Pixel Buds for multiple charges spanning 24 hours of listening time and 12 hours of talk time. Thanks for letting us know! When deciding on a pair of wireless earbuds, it's important that they are compatible with whatever device you plan to be listening on. One type of wireless earbuds you may be interested in is the Galaxy Buds, which are produced to easily work with your Samsung Galaxy products.Do Galaxy Buds work with other brands, such as a Google Pixel phone?Galaxy Buds do work with Google Pixel Phones, you can easily connect these buds to your Google Pixel phone using the Galaxy Wearable app.To learn how to hook your Galaxy Buds up to your Google Pixel phone, or any other phone that's not Samsung for that matter, read on.Do Galaxy Buds Work With Google Pixel Phones?Galaxy Buds are marketed as the optimal earbud of choice for those with Samsung Galaxy phones and other devices. Although it is true these earbuds work phenomenally with Samsung products, you can pair them with other phone brands and devices as well.For example, you can pair your Galaxy Buds with a Google Pixel phone, and with very little effort at that. If you've ever hooked up wireless earbuds before, connecting your Galaxy Buds to your Google Pixel will feel similar.There are some exceptions to which devices Galaxy Buds work with. For example, Galaxy Buds are only compatible with smartphones or tablets that run on Android 5.0 or later, iPhone 7 or later, iOS 10 or later, and have over 1.5 GB of ram. Given that nearly all Bluetooth-enabled devices meet one of these requirements, you shouldn't have much issue connecting your Galaxy Buds to your phone.How To Pair Galaxy Buds With Google Pixel PhonesLucky for you, pairing your Galaxy Buds with your Google Pixel phone is really easy. As we've mentioned before, the process is similar to connecting any other wireless headphones to a Bluetooth-enabled device. Although simple, there are many steps to follow. To make the process easier, we have separated them into sections. Preliminary StepsMake sure Galaxy Buds are charged up.Ensure Galaxy Buds are not already connected to another Bluetooth device in the area.Enable Galaxy Buds On Your Google PixelPull down on the top of your Google Pixel home page to reveal the pull-down quick settings page.Select Bluetooth icon.If the Bluetooth feature is not enabled on your phone, long-press the Bluetooth icon so that the Bluetooth settings page pulls up.Select "Pair new device" at the top of the Bluetooth settings page.Google Pixel will automatically search for Bluetooth devices in the area. Wait until your Galaxy Buds are found.Tap on the Galaxy Bud selection on the setting page.Once you click on the Galaxy Buds, you will get a notification asking you to cancel or pair the buds with your phone. If you want your Galaxy Buds to have access to your contacts, click the box.Click "pair." The settings page should say "Active" after you do this, even though the Galaxy Buds aren't properly connected yet.Set Up Your Galaxy Buds Using The Galaxy Wearable appNext, download the Galaxy Wearable app and set up your buds manually. Follow the prompts described by the app.You will need to install an additional plugin that is prompted by the Galaxy Wearable app. Select "Okay" once you are prompted to install the Galaxy Bud plugin.Install the Galaxy Buds Plugin you are brought to in the Google Play store.Closeout of all apps.Connect Your Galaxy Buds To Your Galaxy Wearable appGo back to the Galaxy Wearable app and select your device.Select "Agree" to the terms and conditions notification.Select "Okay" to the notifications prompt. You will automatically be taken to your Notification Access page.Click on "Galaxy Buds." Note that the name listed will match the model, such as Galaxy Buds Pro. Allow notification access for your Galaxy Buds.Select "Allow" to the prompt that shows up.Back click to get back to your Galaxy Wearable app.You have now completely set up your Galaxy Buds so that they work with your Google Pixel. You can update your buds if desired at this point, but you don't have to do that right now if you don't want to.ConclusionEven though it took a whopping 21 steps to connect your Galaxy Buds to your Google Pixel, the process isn't that painful. Most of the process is simply selecting "Okay" or "Agree" to notifications or prompts that pop up on your Google Pixel.Once you get your Galaxy Buds all set up, toy around with the Galaxy Wearable app to figure out the different features and capabilities these earbuds offer. These features can make a huge difference to the listening experience. Happy listening!link to Why is Hulk Not on Disney Plus?link to Does AppleCare Cover Water Damage?
